

2010 Alamo Disc Series Point System

The 2010 Alamo Championship is a series of disc golf tournaments held in the San Antonio Metro area culminating in a series finale December 4-5, 2010.

Series Bonus Payout, How it Works

1. $2 from each player at each qualifying event goes towards the series bonus payout at the series finale.
2. The series bonus payout will be distributed by division & allocated by the percentage of entrants in the qualifying tournaments. That means if a player enters the intermediate division in a qualifier, that $2 goes towards to intermediate division's series bonus payout at the series finale. If a player enters the open division in a qualifier, that $2 goes towards the open division's series bonus payout at the series finale.
3. Players who have played in at least (3) qualifying events receive a $5 discount for the series finale entry fee.
4. The top 25% of each division using the Alamo Disc Series Point System will receive payout from the series bonus payout.
